THE DRYGOODS COMMITTEE'S FIGURES.

A STIRRING APPEAL TO MERCHANTS AND MANU-FACTURERS-SOME COLD FACTS. The Drygoods Committee on the World's Fair is acting on the principle "Push things!" in the preparations it is making for the coming hearing on the Cantor bill. nuldent of their ability to convince the people and through them the legislators, that the proposed appropriation of $300,000 will by no means answer the urpose. But this is not all. Said a member of the com nittee yesterday: "There is one item that has not been considered at all yet. That is the expenses of women commissioners who are to represent the be, but they will swell the total given in our latest circular so that there will be only a narrow margin left if $500,000 is appropriated. That amount will certainly be needed, for it is the invariable rule, I think, that such estimates fall inside of the amoun

To the Merchants and Manufacturers of the State of New York.
Gentlemen: The World's Pale of New-York.

Gentlemen: The World's Fair Committee of the drygoods trade in this city are purting forth every honorable affort to secure from the Legislature an adequate appropriation, so that the State of New-York may be flatingly represented at the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1963.

A bill on the application appropriation, so that the State with the Exposition at Chicago in 1893.

A bill on the subject has been introduced in the Legislature. In its present form we are convinced that it is not well adapted to accomplish the purpose in view, and we carnestly desire to have it amended in two respects, namely.

First—By substituting for the second section of the bill, which now provides for three commissioners from each judicial district tiwenty-four in all, the following:

"Section 2. The Governor shall forthwith appoint 2 Board of District Commissioners, which shall consist of one person for each judicial district of the State, who shall be a resident of the district and, so far as practicable, representative of some of the industries of the state. Such district commissioners shall co-operate with the General Managers for the purpose of securing with the General Managers for the purpose of securing a full and complete exhibit of the resources, products and general development of the State.

Second—By Increasing the appropriation from $500,000 to $500,000.

play of this State's industries, and our adequate setting jorth of its natural advantages, it will be seriously detrimental to your interests and the interests of the state at large.

This committee have consuited leading architects, who are familiar with buildings such as New-York State ought to erect on the admirable site reserved for it in Jackson Park, and they estimate that the cost of a suitable building will not be less than $200,000.

The site reserved for New-York's building is about 250 feet in length by 150 feet in depth. Our building should be one that will attract attention and admiration and do credit to the Empire state. It should be constructed of Iron and glass, with a commanding dome, which should contain galleries and outlooks; there should be elevators in the centre, and in every there should be elevators in the centre, and in every there should be elevators in the centre, and in every there should be elevators in the centre, and most populous State in the Union.

Such a building, as we have said, will, in the opinion of competent architects, cost at least $200,000.

As for the uses to which it will be put, it will contain reception-rooms, reading-rooms, a bureau of intermation for the benefit of New-Yorkers who visit the Fair, etc., and in it rooms may well be set apart for the display of maps and pictures showing the advantages which the water-ways and lines of praisiportation of our state afford for the establishment of new manufactures and the creation of new industries. In a word, the New-York World's Fair Building will he a general headquarters for the state and for all of its citizens who 30 to Chicago next year.

It may be added that the building can be put unin such a way that it may be taken down at the close of the Exposition, if so desired, and recrected somewhere within the State of New-York.

When the natural advantages and the consideration, it will be seen that a number of bureaus will be required in order to supply fall information to the thousands of foreigners who will vis experts.

In the World's Fair Act passed by Congress no provision has been made for the entertainment of foreign visitors who will enter this port in connection with the naval pande. That act provides that the United States Navy shall meet the naval vessels of other nations at Hampton Roads and convoy them to New-York Harbor, where the navies of the world will be reviewed.

cher nations at Hampton Roads and convoy them to New-York Harbor, where the navies of the world will be reviewed.

It will be necessary for the State of New-York to provide such entertainment for our distinguished guests as befits the dignity and position of the State. Remember that New-York is the poor of entry for the whole United States. The importance of making saidable provision for every feature of the great navall parade is therefore made doubly evident.

Conservative estinates of the expenditure that will be necessary in order that the Empire State may do its part creditably in connection with the Columbian Exposition and the stiendant ceremonies show the following items: Building, not less than $200,000. Sainries of omploves, elerks, etc., $125,000 to $150,000. Entertainment of the navies of the world, at least $100,000. Here we have, at a rough estimate, a total of $425,000 or $450,000; and it is almost inevitable that this estimate will be exceeded.

The Drygoods Committee are in favor of a display and a representation that will reflect credit upon our great and populous Stat. They have been conservalive—not extravagant. They have been conservally—not extravagant of the Chamber of Commerce, the New-York Board of Trade and Transportation, the judgate and the properties of the harmon of the Chamber of var

PREPARING THE REVISION REPORT.

CHAPTER XI OF THE CONFESSION OF FAITH, AS The task of preparing their report to be submitted

Inc task of preparing their report to be submitted in the spring to the General Assembly at Portland, Ore., is now taking the time of the Committee for the Bevision of the Confession of Faith of the Presbyterian Church, meeting at No. 53 Fifth-ave. The report will be a voluminous one and will consist of thirty or forty propagations of Confession. propositions or overtures. It will be so prepared that propositions or overtures. It will be so prepared that the General Assembly can act upon the various chap-ters and sections separately. It is linought that the lighest body of the Church will submit the report again to the Presbyteries before taking final action.

The new Chapter XI, entitled "Of the Gospel," was revised for the last time and presented in a greatly condensed form. Its four sections are as follows:

THE ROOSTER WOULDN'T CROW IN COURT. damages for the alleged largeny of a rooster, was tried yesterday in Zimmerman's Hotel, Caristadt, before Justice Adolph Kruger and a jury. Addison Ely opened for the prosecution and called Mrs. Townsend, who testified that between 4 and 5 o'clock in the yard of Charles W. Sturgess, next door. Mr. Towns end went into his neighbor's yard to regain the fowl value of the rooster would depend on how badly a person wanted it.

The rooser had not been brought to court, but after several witnesses had been examined, it was decided to put the bird in evidence, so that its style of crowing night be identified. The bird was brought, but he would not crow. He only chuckled and flagned his, wings. Mrs. Ida J. Surgess resilied that the bird in question belonged to her hitle daughter, and had been hought by her son and her husband's coustin in November last, with seven other chickens, from De Witt Howard. Mrs. Sturgess said she cut off a feather in the left wing to mark it about a week after it was bought. The bird was examined in court, and it was seen that a feather had been cut off. De Witt Howard, a boy of filteen, testified to the sale of several chickens to the sturgesses, including the rooster in question, and his mother agreed with him. After the jury had been out had an hour, E. J. Turner, the foreman, said they could not agree. Justice Kruger sent the jury our again, but after further deliberation, no agreement having been reached, it was discharged. Immediate notice of a new trial was given, and the case will again come up before Justice Kruger next Thursday morning.

At "The Little Church Around the Corner," in Twenty-ninth-st., yesterday forenoon, Dr. Honghton read the burial service of the Episcopal Church over the body of Jacob Gosche, the veteran manager a dramatic agent who died on Tuesday. The service dramatic agent who died on Tuesday. The services were made peculiarly impressive by the absence of near relatives of the dead man, the simple but affecting music and the mute sympathy of a score or more of men who had known the dead man for varying intervals of time from a year ago to half a century. Among these were associates of forty years' standing like Mr. De Vivo, old friends and helpers who had eased his declining years file Charles F. Tretbur, men for whom Gosche had worked and who had worked for him like John Mannken, and men who had learned to like and respect the old man when he was looked upon as a Napoleon among managers, and had not forgotten him in his decline, like Frederick hergner. The music consisted of a chant, two hymns ("Art Thou Weary, Art Thou Languid," and "Jesus, saviour of My soul") and a solo anthem ("I Heard a Voice.") The singers, who had volunteered for the duty, were Mrs. Clark soprano; Mrs. Annie Louise Cary Raymond, contraite. Mr. Rickettsop, tenor; and Mr. Remmertz, bass. The organist was J. P. Dod. Mrs. Clark sang the solo anthem.
